

N° 1074

Eve Beglarian

My Feelings Now

for voice and piano

1996

EVBVD Music

PO Box 1677

Old Chelsea Station

New York, NY 10011

The lyrics of My Feelings Now are adapted from various things the Indonesian dancer and choreographer Hartati said during a residency we both had in Los Angeles in the summer of 1996. I wrote the song in Wyoming while in residency at Ucross in August of 1996. (I want to thank both Judy Mitoma and the Ford Foundation for the APPEX program that brought all of us together, and the Ucross Foundation for the residency time that freed me to write the piece.) My Feelings Now is dedicated to Tati with love.

When I perform this piece with twisted tutu, we play against a quiet taped background which includes Robin Lorentz on violin, and an electronically manipulated recording of Indonesian flute and vocal music performed by Sawir St. Mudo and Mira Tanjung. If you want to perform it this way, please contact me, and I'll provide you with a tape. But my feeling is that there are many ways to flesh out the song, and I am very open to you making whatever versions you feel will work effectively. Similarly, you should feel free to transpose it to reflect your vocal style and range. If you need a transposed score, I can send you one.

The song is about four minutes long.

My Feelings Now

♩ = 60

lyrics: Hartati

1

p I know

5

my feel - ings

9

now now I know my

13

feel - ings

mp

17 lis' - ning lis' - ning to you

21 lis'-ning to you to you to you

25 I know my feel - ings

29 now I know

33

you make me

37

think - ing

mf you make

41

me think - ing

f you

45

make — me

mf think -

49

ing I know

p

53

my feel - ings

57

now now I know

61

my feel - ings